

The Elderly Couple

By Rod Fraser

Here is a couple from the village nearby.
Who have come to my door to chat and say 'Hi'.

They're kind of old, and a bit frail to be sure.
The polite word for this, is to say they're mature.

The village where they live is not far away.
I can walk over there in less than a day.

They've brought some snacks on which we will nibble.
His name is Mark and his wife is called Sybil.

After we've visited, they'll be off to the stores.
They've worked in a visit, while doing their chores.